

Buxton is a beautiful spa town on the edge of the Peak District National Park and is blessed with a wealth of scenic, cultural, historic and entertainment attractions. A hugely popular holiday destination, Buxton has excellent hotels, guest houses and restaurants.

www.visitbuxton.co.uk

The Alister MacKenzie Society of G. B. & I. was formed in 1999 in response to growing interest in the work of Dr. Alister MacKenzie, one of the leading, early 20th century golf course architects.

MacKenzie's first work was at A Woodley, Leeds in 1907. Before moving to expand his career abroad, MacKenzie designed or modified over 70 courses in England, Scotland and Ireland. Although some of these are no longer in existence, around 52 courses have survived.

He left Britain to live in the USA in the late 1920's and went on to design many internationally acclaimed courses. Particularly notable among these are The Augusta National and Cypress Point in the USA and Royal Melbourne in Australia.

The Society's aim is to promote friendly competition between golfers who belong to such clubs and to encourage the study, preservation and restoration of his work.

www.alistermackenzie.co.uk

The Cavendish MacKenzie Trail

For help in planning your visit please contact us.

t: 01298 79708

e: proshop@cavendishgolfclub.com

w: www.cavendishgolfclub.com

We look forward to welcoming you

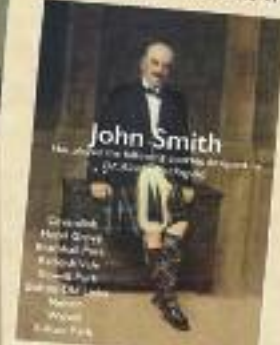

Cavendish Golf Club, Walford Road, Buxton, Derbyshire, SK17 6XF

The Cavendish MacKenzie Trail
Record Card

www.cavendishgolfclub.com

The Cavendish MacKenzie Trail

Arise Day
Signature Date

9 MacKenzie courses
Imaginative designs
Easy reach of Buxton
Play and stay

How many will you play?

The Cavendish MacKenzie Trail

We have many visitors to Cavendish who thoroughly enjoy our great course designed by Dr. Alister MacKenzie and ask if we could suggest other MacKenzie courses to play.

In response we have devised

The Cavendish MacKenzie Trail a selection of nine North-Midland, MacKenzie-designed courses within easy reach from Cavendish Golf Club.

The Cavendish MacKenzie Trail

offers four courses within 20 miles of Buxton, two more within 40 miles and three more within 60 miles. There are many more MacKenzie courses just a few miles further on, including Alwoodley MacKenzie's home club around 66 miles from Buxton.

The courses selected display the mastery of MacKenzie when presented with sites of great topographical variety. Opened over a period of 16 years, they include one of his earliest designs (little altered in over 100 years), and the last English course designed by him. They incorporate terrain as varied as tranquil heathland, level parkland, undulating hillsides and moorland plateau.

There are a small number of golfers who have managed to play every MacKenzie course, although a growing number are committed to achieving this goal.

The Cavendish MacKenzie Trail provides a great starting point for this ambition!

Cavendish Golf Club

www.cavendishgolfclub.com

1925

5,721yds
SSS68

Unaltered since opened, so short by modern standards. Nevertheless the clever layout with small, undulating and fast greens, demands accurate shot-making not power play.

6,310yds
SSS71

A parkland course with tree-lined fairways and several challenging water hazards. The greens have been re-laid to USGA standards.

Hazel Grove Golf Club

www.hazelgrovegolfclub.com

1920

6,214yds
SSS70

A mature and well-presented parkland course, over gently undulating terrain. A stream guards the 1st and 18th greens.

Bramall Park Golf Club

www.bramallparkgolfclub.co.uk

1921

6,086yds
SSS70

A figure of 8 routing, flowing across the valley of the River Tame. Fun, and occasionally quirky. Clubhouse with commanding views.

Reddish Vale Golf Club

www.rvgc.co.uk

1912

6,239yds
SSS70

The holes are laid around a hillside with many changes of elevation. As designed, the greens included severe undulations, subsequently eased.

Sitwell Park Golf Club

www.sitwellgolf.co.uk

1913

6,479yds
SSS72

A fine elevated moorland course with 2 loops of 9 holes exposing the golfer to any wind direction.

Bolton Old Golf Links Golf Club

www.boltonoldlinksgolfclub.co.uk

1921

6,006yds
SSS70

A compact layout of 2 loops of 9 holes on a plateau with fine views of the surrounding Pennine Hills. MacKenzie's clever design results in easy walking.

Nelson Golf Club

www.nelsongolfclub.com

1920

6,259yds
SSS71

A parkland course with level tree-lined fairways and well bunkered greens. Immaculately presented.

Walsall Golf Club

www.walsallgolfclub.co.uk

1928

6,542yds
SSS72

A tranquil heathland course with heather, gorse and silver birch trees in the National Nature Reserve of Sutton Park.

Sutton Coldfield Golf Club

www.suttoncoldfieldgfc.com

1921